

We went to Boulogne sur mer by bus and we visited the cemetery of the sailors disappeared at sea finally a reproduction in India tick and we from there we had a view on the port and the plate we learned that it was the number one of the fishing port of France then we went to the house of the butter which was built in a street with a lot of walking when we came back we learned that more than 7 people per floor and there were 2 floors each family had a floor when we visited the top floor we stopped in front of a painting and the whole planet is teleported in a parallel dimension during the second world war suddenly there was a bombardment and everything exploded and all the people died then suddenly people get up became zombies and they all started killing each other and suddenly we returned to our dimension we were all shocked s. That it was that day scientists are still wondering what was in this bomb but we will probably never know. We continued the visit as if nothing had happened, we took the bus back to visit a museum where there were exhibits

Léo

WILLAERT

(4°C)